Teamwork and Leadership

Task 1:

During your induction, you took part in a small team task.

Using the review sheets, evaluate:

- a) your own part in the activity (Team member Review) and,
- b) the role of the student who led the task (Team Leader Review)

You need to be totally honest and factual when undertaking the review. The approach you should take must provide an 'overview' of what happened.

If you were a team member, you should evaluate the team leader's role but also take into account your own participation. For example: when you are asked "Did the team fully understand the task?" you should ask yourself whether this is true. You should only rate the score as a 6, if you really did understand what you had to do.

If you acted as the team leader, you should evaluate your performance. This is harder than you think, as you need to be very honest with yourself.

When completing the evaluation don't forget to identify both the positive aspects and areas of development /weakness.
